Johnson and Demika Hunter (collectively, the “Plaintiffs”) by their attorneys, The New York Center for Law and Justice, plead and allege as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. This action arises from the repeated, ongoing, and systematic failure of the City of New York (“City”), New York City Department of Homeless Services (“DHS” and, together with the City of New York, the “City Defendants”) to provide effective communication between Defendants’ homeless shelter staff and Plaintiffs Karla Armenta, Tamara Castillo Aponte, Russell Brim, Walton Serrano-Colon, Yenny Cruz, Maria Dominguez, Shirley Espinosa, Ismael Garcia, Keith Goulbourne, Alicia Goulbourne, Hanif Mohammed, Yaana Pena, Yunissa Soto, and Dwayne Taylor, Esther Hazel, Elizabeth Donegan, Marie Gregoire, Jesus Ramos, Filippo Giambianco, Julie Lopez, Jasmine Johnson and Demika Hunter (collectively “Plaintiffs”) who are deaf, read only a very limited amount of written English, and rely on American Sign Language (“ASL”) or a Certified Deaf Interpreter (CDI) to communicate with others.

2. Karla Armenta, Tamara Castillo Aponte, and her two children, Maria Magdelena Castillo Aponte (“Maria”), and Yastany Astacio (“Yastany”), (collectively, “Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs”), Russell Brim and his two children, Asher Brim (“Asher”) and I.B., a minor, (collectively, “Brim children”), together with Mr. Brim, (“Brim Plaintiffs”), Walton Serrano-Colon, Yenny Cruz, Maria Dominguez, Shirley Espinosa, Ismael Garcia, Keith Goulbourne, Alicia Goulbourne (together “Goulbourne Plaintiffs”), Hanif Mohammed, Yaana Pena and her minor child, L.P. (collectively “Pena Plaintiffs”), Yunissa Soto and Dwayne Taylor, Esther Hazel, Elizabeth Donegan, Marie Gregoire, Jesus Ramos, Filippo Giambianco, Julie Lopez, Jasmine Johnson and Demika Hunter were denied and continue to be denied equal access to benefits, services, and effective communication with Defendants' staff because of Defendants' repeated failure to provide them with qualified sign language interpreter services or auxiliary aids.

3. Defendants have denied Plaintiffs the opportunity to participate in, question, or understand discussions and decisions concerning their residence, or their families' residence, in Defendants' shelters. Defendants have denied Plaintiffs the benefit of meetings with shelter case-workers. Defendants have denied Plaintiffs the opportunity to participate in shelter-wide discussions regarding the availability of public benefits and job opportunities. Defendants have denied Plaintiffs the ability to express questions or complaints regarding shelter conditions. This denial to Plaintiffs of access to shelter programs and services available to hearing individuals constitutes discrimination on the part of Defendants in violation of Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (the "ADA"), Title III of the ADA, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (the "Rehabilitation Act"), the New York City Human Rights Law, and the New York State Human Rights Law. In addition, Defendants were negligent, careless, wanton and reckless in their disregard of the Plaintiffs and in their acts and omissions towards the Plaintiffs.

4. As a result of Defendants' failure to abide by the law and provide qualified sign language interpreters or auxiliary aids, I.B., and L.P., infant Plaintiffs in this action (collectively "Plaintiff Children"), suffered extreme emotional distress. Defendants' discrimination against and other conduct forced the Plaintiff Children to participate in sophisticated discussions regarding housing, health records, public benefits, and other issues that were exceedingly inappropriate for children and young adults. Furthermore, in violation of the law, Defendants repeatedly asked Castillo Aponte Children, Asher Brim, and the Yaana Pena's minor child to interpret conversations and key documents on behalf of Russell Brim, Tamara Castillo Aponte and Yaana Pena, respectively, which placed the children in an unacceptable position of responsibility considering the seriousness of the circumstances.

5. Defendants' failure to provide access to effective communication to Karla Armenta, Tamara Castillo Aponte, Russell Brim, Walton Serrano-Colon, Yenny Cruz, Maria Dominguez, Shirley Espinosa, Ismael Garcia, Keith Goulbourne, Alicia Goulbourne, Hanif Mohammed, Yaana Pena, Dwayne Taylor, Esther Hazel, Elizabeth Donegan, Marie Gregoire, Jesus Ramos, Filippo Giambianco, Julie Lopez, Jasmine Johnson and Demika Hunter violates Title III of the ADA, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, New York City Human Rights Law, and the New York State Human Rights Law.

6. In addition, City Defendants' failure to provide effective communication assistance to Karla Armenta, Tamara Castillo Aponte, Russell Brim, Walton Serrano-Colon, Yenny Cruz, Maria Dominguez, Shirley Espinosa, Ismael Garcia, Keith Goulbourne, Alicia Goulbourne, Hanif Mohammed, Yaana Pena, Dwayne Taylor and Esther Hazel, Elizabeth Donegan, Marie Gregoire, Jesus Ramos, Filippo Giambianco, Julie Lopez, Jasmine Johnson and Demika Hunter violates Title II of the ADA.

7. Plaintiffs seek declaratory and injunctive relief, compensatory and punitive damages, and attorneys' fees.

52. The case manager would only communicate with Ms. Armenta using spoken English.

53. Ms. Armenta asked a Spanish speaking friend to go with her to approximately three (3) meetings with her case manager at the Franklin Shelter because Ms. Armenta believed that she could read the lips of her Spanish-speaking friend more effectively than those of her case manager, who only spoke English.

108. During the time that Mr. Brim resided at the Catherine Street Shelter, he never received access to a CART interpreter for meetings with his case manager.

109. Mr. Brim requested that CART services be provided during general meetings at the Catherine Street Shelter by vocalizing this request to staff at the Catherine Street Shelter.

128. The Freedom House Shelter obtained a sign language interpreter for Mr. Brim, but not CART.

129. Because Mr. Brim lost his hearing later in life, he does not communicate by American Sign Language, but communicates instead through typed correspondence such as CART.

130. Mr. Brim was able to read the sign language interpreter's lips to a very limited extent, but missed a significant amount of what was being said in the meetings despite the fact that a sign language interpreter had been provided.

131. As a result, Mr. Brim repeated his requests to his case manager that he type back and forth with him or that a CART interpreter be provided.

132. Mr. Brim's case manager did not type and did not obtain a CART interpreter for Mr. Brim, and instead continued to hire a sign language interpreter for the purposes of having meetings with Mr. Brim.

133. As a result, Mr. Brim was unable to effectively communicate with his case manager while he was a resident at the Freedom House Shelter.

134. General meetings were routinely held at the Freedom House Shelter.

135. No CART interpreter services were provided for Mr. Brim at the general meetings while he was a resident at the Freedom House Shelter.

136. As a result, Mr. Brim did not attend the general meeting at the Freedom House Shelter because he was unable to understand what was being said or participate in the meetings.

137. Additionally, during his stay at Freedom House Shelter, Mr. Brim was separated from his daughter, I.B.

138. I.B. was relocated to another residence in Manhattan.

146. Asher Brim was frequently asked by shelter personnel to interpret on behalf of his father, causing him to suffer extreme emotional distress.

Mr. Brim's minor child, I.B., was separated from Mr. Brim, in part because he was unable to communicate with shelter staff and City employees and she was placed in another residence, as mentioned, only to be reunited when Mr. Brim secured permanent housing.

148. City Defendants' failure to provide interpretive services caused the Brim Plaintiffs to experience overwhelming stress, fear, frustration, uncertainty, confusion and feelings of helplessness as they attempted to make their way through (and ultimately, out of) the New York City shelter system.

FACTS – CASTILLO APONTE PLAINTIFFS

Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs' 2004 Trip to PATH and Stay at the Bay Family Center

149. In September 2004, Ms. Castillo Aponte and her daughters Maria and Yastany Astacio visited the PATH processing center for the first time to inquire about temporary shelter and permanent housing. A family friend accompanied the plaintiffs.

150. The friend explained to PATH personnel that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf and requested an interpreter on her behalf. When no such interpreter was provided, the friend agreed to interpret on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf during the intake process. The friend was not a certified ASL interpreter, has no formal training in ASL, and is not otherwise qualified to perform interpretive services.

151. Although City Defendants' staff at PATH knew that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf, they failed to provide her an ASL interpreter. As a result, Ms. Castillo Aponte was not able to communicate that she preferred to be assigned to a shelter in Manhattan, and was instead assigned to the Bay Family Center in Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn.

152. Through the friend, Ms. Castillo Aponte set up two appointments at the PATH facility for the following days to complete her intake with an ASL interpreter present.

153. Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs arrived at the Bay Family Center later that same day, again accompanied by her friend. The friend notified the Bay Family Center staff that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf and would need an interpreter. When no such interpreter was provided, the friend again agreed to interpret on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf during the intake process.

154. After staying the night at the Bay Family Center, Ms. Castillo Aponte returned to PATH on successive days for the appointments she had set up previously with PATH personnel. An interpreter was only made available at one of the meetings.

155. Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs remained at the Bay Family Center for approximately seven months. During that time, the Bay Family Center arranged for Ms. Castillo Aponte to attend biweekly meetings with a caseworker. However, instead of providing a trained interpreter for those meetings, the Bay Family Center would call the plaintiffs' friend and ask him to interpret on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf. At the first such meeting, the friend requested an interpreter on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf. The caseworker responded that the shelter could not afford one.

156. Eventually, in March 2005, Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs were able to leave the Bay Family Shelter and moved into a one-bedroom apartment.

Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs Leave their Apartment and Eventually Return to PATH

157. Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs returned to the PATH processing facility on or around May 3, 2011, accompanied by a family friend.

Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs Are Again Denied an ASL Interpreter at PATH

158. The family friend, who is fluent in ASL, but who has no formal qualifications as an interpreter, was not allowed inside the PATH facility because he is not related to Ms. Castillo Aponte.

159. Yastany explained to PATH intake personnel that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf. Maria and Yastany then proceeded to help Ms. Castillo Aponte fill out PATH's intake paperwork. Maria and Yastany then interpreted on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf during a brief meeting with PATH personnel at which Castillo Aponte plaintiffs were assigned to the Frant Hotel in Manhattan. PATH personnel also asked Ms. Castillo Aponte to return the next day for a follow-up meeting. Castillo Aponte plaintiffs were then transported by van to the Frant Hotel.

160. Maria and Yastany were 15 years of age and 12 years of age, respectively, at the time of the family's return to PATH. Neither Maria nor Yastany is a certified ASL interpreter, has formal training in ASL, or is otherwise qualified to perform interpretive services.

161. City Defendants' staff at PATH knew that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf.

162. City Defendants failed to provide Ms. Castillo Aponte an ASL Interpreter.

163. Upon learning that there would not be an ASL interpreter at the follow-up meeting at PATH, Ms. Castillo Aponte cancelled it. PATH personnel eventually made interpreters available at meetings with Ms. Castillo Aponte that took place later that week. Ms. Castillo Aponte attended those meetings and was able to discuss her medical condition with an interpreter present.

Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs Arrive at the Frant Hotel

164. Upon arriving at the Frant Hotel on or around May 3, 2011, Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs had a meeting with the manager to discuss security and the rules of living in the facility. Ms. Castillo Aponte had to sign documents in order to secure a room in the facility. Despite being aware that Ms. Castillo Aponte was deaf, the Frant Hotel's staff did not provide her with an interpreter or take any steps to obtain one on her behalf.

165. As a result, no interpreter was present to explain the contents of the documents or the information regarding security to Ms. Castillo Aponte and she was forced to rely on her children for an explanation.

166. Upon information and belief, the Frant Hotel staff was on notice of its obligation to provide ASL interpreters to deaf clients before Ms. Castillo Aponte entered the shelter system.

Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs Denied Access to ASL Interpreters, Despite Repeated Requests

167. During Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs' three-year stay at the Frant Hotel they had requested and had been denied ASL interpretive services numerous times.

168. For example, Ms. Castillo Aponte requested an interpreter at her first bimonthly meeting with a Frant Hotel caseworker, in May 2011. The case worker denied Ms. Castillo Aponte's request immediately.

169. Despite her request, there was no interpreter present at Ms. Castillo Aponte's next bimonthly meeting with the caseworker, nor was there an interpreter at any such bimonthly meeting after that until April 2014.

170. At a meeting later in 2011, Ms. Castillo Aponte requested an interpreter by writing the term "interpreter" on a note and handing it to the caseworker. However, no interpreter was present two weeks later when Ms. Castillo Aponte went in for her next appointment.

171. After the caseworker stopped working for the Frant Hotel in October 2011, Ms. Castillo Aponte submitted both oral and written requests for an interpreter to the case worker's successor. Ms. Castillo Aponte also requested an interpreter from the building manager. All of Ms. Castillo Aponte's requests were denied.

172. Maria and Yastany also made several verbal requests for interpreters on behalf of Ms. Castillo Aponte during their stay at the Frant Hotel. Those requests were denied.

173. At one point, a member of the staff gave Maria and Yastany a card to call an interpreter. The staffer did not offer to provide an interpreter or to arrange for the Frant Hotel to pay for one.

174. On several occasions during Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs' stay at the Frant Hotel, Frant Hotel staff provided Ms. Castillo Aponte with paperwork regarding permanent housing that Ms. Castillo Aponte could not understand without an interpreter present. As a result of the Frant Hotel's refusal to provide an interpreter, Ms. Castillo Aponte had to travel to a social service agency to have the paperwork translated into ASL.

175. The Frant Hotel repeatedly denied Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs' requests for an interpreter, despite having a legal obligation to provide one. As a result, Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs were denied the opportunity to fully participate in, question, or understand discussions and decisions concerning their residence at the Frant Hotel. Furthermore, the Frant Hotel denied Ms. Castillo Aponte the benefit of programs and services available to hearing residents such as meetings with shelter case workers and shelter-wide discussions regarding the availability of public benefits and job opportunities. The Frant Hotel also denied Ms. Castillo Aponte the ability to voice questions or complaints regarding shelter conditions.

176. Also as a result of discrimination on the part of City Defendants, Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer extreme emotional distress. City

Defendants' repeated denials of interpretive services have resulted in Castillo Aponte Plaintiffs experiencing overwhelming stress, fear, frustration, uncertainty, confusion and feelings of helplessness as they attempted to make their way through the shelter system.

177. In addition, Ms. Castillo Aponte has suffered and continues to suffer from embarrassment and shame when discussing topics like joblessness, disability benefits, welfare, and her health problems in front of her daughters (as a result of her daughters being asked by Frant Hotel staff to interpret on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf during meetings with caseworkers).

Castillo Aponte Children Have Experienced and Continue to Experience Extreme Emotional Distress

178. Castillo Aponte children have been directly harmed by City Defendants' failures to provide ASL interpretive services.

179. As a result of the City Defendants' refusal to provide Ms. Castillo Aponte with an interpreter, Maria and Yastany had been asked by shelter personnel to interpret on behalf of their mother, causing them to suffer extreme emotional distress and, on several occasions, be pulled out of school or other activities.

180. Ms. Castillo Aponte had reminded Frant Hotel staff on several occasions that it was not her daughters' responsibility to provide ASL translation services on Ms. Castillo Aponte's behalf.

181. Castillo Aponte children are not certified ASL interpreters.
